LARGE AUDIENCE AT MILTON DELIGHTED WITH HIS ADDRESS. HERE, SATURDAY Many Prominent Educators to Attend Noon Luncheon at Y. M. C. A.

McKEEVERISM.—"If you expect to stop anything like a jazz dance by calling it a dance, and providing nothing to take its place, you have another guess coming."

"If the theaters and newspapers that play up crime in a dramatic way, were put out of business for 60 days it would result in a 50 percent reduction of juvenile delinquencies."

"Nothing in the world is so spectacular or joyous as righteousness, but we don't play it up."

"The home, and the school and the church have their teachers and certain things prescribed to be taught, but who are the community teachers, and what is the course?"

"A community that properly indulges its children and young people in play, is one-fourth saved."

"If you parents and church people are dissatisfied to have your boys play baseball to an audience composed of the toughs and loafers of your town, stay away from their games, but if you want them to play up to a decent audience, provide the audience."

The foregoing are some of the declarations made by Dr. William A. McKeever, at a largely attended community meeting Thursday night, in the auditorium of Milton and Milton Junction Union high school, when he discussed the topic "How to

$15,000 LOSS IN ELKHORN FARM BLAZE

Elkhorn.—More than a $15,000 loss was sustained by William Busher through a fire Thursday night at his farm, two miles east of Elkhorn, when a large barn, 25 cows, four horses, a large number of hogs, pigs and chickens, machinery, chicken house, two corncribs and silos were destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance of about $10,000.

The fire, when discovered at between 10 and 11 p. m. by the family, after retiring, had gained such headway that there was no possibility of even saving the cattle.

None of the farm buildings, except the granary, hog house and the home could be saved.

The farm is known as the William White place and was sold to Busher three years ago by Elmer Coles.

VETO AX WHIRLED IN TAX MEASURE MELEE

THREAT TO BALK APPROPRIATIONS MADE BY BLAINE

LAUNCHES FINAL COUP TO FORCE OWN BILL IN COMMITTEE. LETTER TO HUBER "Accept My Plan or I'll Kill Funds," Is Gist of Ultimatum.

Madison.—Governor Blaine served notice on the joint finance committee Friday that, unless the legislature passed his general income tax bill, the large appropriations for which mill taxes are the source of revenue, will face an executive veto.

This move of the governor is accepted as a final coup in an effort to force a favorable report of the finance committee and enactment of his proposed tax law.

Leader of Party.—In his letter, addressed to Senator Henry A. Huber, chairman of the finance committee, Governor Blaine sets himself up as the leader of the progressive republicans, outlining the pledge he made to the people at the last election for a change in tax laws, expresses disapproval of surtaxes on incomes and sets out his intention to veto appropriation bills unless his tax plan is accepted.

"Along the lines and within the constitutional power, the contest will be made," he concludes his letter.

Quoted Party Pledge.—After quoting the republican platform pledge on taxation, Governor Blaine said "that pledge has been written into a specific bill. So far as it is within my power, it is my duty to urge fulfillment of that pledge," he continued. "Having been commissioned by over 367,000 voters I have no right to surrender that duty and responsibility."

"I have no intention to surrender that duty and responsibility. My duty and obligation toward the people of this state is to withhold my assent from any bill which would deprive them of the right to a fair and equitable tax system."

WAGES BATTLE FOR HIS POLITICAL LIFE

GOV. JOHN J. BLAINE

HOTEL LONDON IS RAIDED BY POLICE

William Lawyer, Manager, Is Arrested on Possession Charge.

William E. Lawyer, manager of the Hotel London, was arraigned in municipal court here, Friday morning, on a liquor possession charge as a result of a police raid on the hotel, Thursday afternoon, when approximately three gallons of alcohol were confiscated from room No. 4. This room, according to the hotel register, was listed in the name of Charles Jones, Milwaukee.

Lawyer was represented by his attorney, Louis Avery, and furnished $500 bail, with his examination set for Friday, May 11.

Investigation of the hotel register shows room 4 has been listed in the name of several Milwaukee men, the past few months but there is nothing to indicate any of them ever checked out. Chief Charles Newman said.

The articles confiscated, according to the return on the search warrant, consisted of seven one-half gallon cans, almost full; one funnel and one siphon hose.

The police could find no liquor in the hotel bar-room.

Sun Forces Win Decisive Victory

Hong Kong.—After a fluctuating battle during the North river, lasting many days and entailing heavy casualties, Sun Yat-sen, the Canton leader of the southern constitutionalist forces, has gained what is considered here a decisive victory over the Kwangsi army that was menacing Canton.

The main battle began Sunday, when the Sun Yat-sen forces made a general attack on the enemy, who occupied strong positions on a hill along the Canton-Hankow railway. The turning point of the battle came Monday, according to the reports received here.

The constitutionalists by a wide detour succeeded in striking at the rear of the Kwangsi army, which was demoralized when they found themselves outflanked by a considerable force, retreated precipitately toward the border of Kwangsi province.

BACK TOBACCO POOL OR CLOSE ITS DOORS

"Unless you growers want the price of tobacco to fall to the level of the pool and close doors," Emerson E. Madison, attorney, counsel for the Northern Wisconsin Cooperative Tobacco pool, told Rock county farmers at the tobacco pool meeting held in the Somerville warehouse Thursday night. There were more than 150 growers attending the group meeting.

"There has been established a big machine for marketing Wisconsin's tobacco crop, which in a short time has accomplished much and if you stay with the pool, then a man who signed the contract must be made to live up to it. We do not want to prosecute the hard-pressed grower tempted by a buyer, but we want to put the penalty on the buyer named in the contract who made it for the purpose of breaking up the pool and forcing the growers back to the old system of taking only their price."

Growers at the meeting expressed confidence in the pool method of marketing Wisconsin tobacco, due credit was given the pool for raising the price.

The Harried Letter.—No great animosity was evident during the meeting, the speakers not attacking buyers who "generously" paid five and seven cents in 1921 and 1922 and who are now sympathizing with the grower that he has to sell at prices ranging from 10 cents on stemming to 27 cents and higher.

The only outbreak was when the notorious Ole Harried letter published in Edgerton and circulated generally in the tobacco growing districts was displayed by Selma Nordstrom, chairman of the pool, to have been dictated by C. B. Sweeney, Edgerton packer and buyer. An affidavit has been given by Harried, it is claimed, attesting that "He (Harried) had never read the letter and was persuaded to sign it without reading it by Mr. C. B. Sweeney."

"On the 1922 tobacco the buyers were around telling you growers there was no market, that they had a five years' supply on hand and didn't need a pound of tobacco," declared Nordstrom.

"Even up north all they could talk was from five to seven cents. As soon as the pool was started the price jumped and as soon as the pool was started the price was strong and there was a good market. Now they come around and express sympathy that the growers have to sell their stemming stock for more than they paid for all the 1921 tobacco. No one heard them express any sympathy on that five and seven cent tobacco and you will be right back there if the pool goes under."

Raise Quality Tobacco.—"Too high prices will kill the pool. The problem is to raise quality instead of quantity and perfect a system of grading that will pay the grower well for the extra effort to produce the quality crop."

But one serious protest was made during the pool and in the opinion of many growers the complaint registered is thoroughly justified.

Instructions were sent out on stripping the tobacco. Cards were Private funeral services for Oscar E. Wixom, 33, Chevrolet employee found dead here early Thursday morning, under peculiar circumstances, will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday, at the home, 731 South Main street. Pastor G. J. Muller will officiate and burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Hanson's bail was reduced from $2,500 to $2,000 and was signed by his father who came out from Milwaukee, Thursday night. Maas' bond was cut from $2,500 to $1,000, and was outbonded by Sheriff Fred Belov, Friday morning, after the amount had been posted. The charge against the two is manslaughter.

Conrad A. Whaley drove to Beloit Thursday afternoon, taking with him the contents of Wixom's stomach for analysis by Beloit pathologist. The results of this examination has not been announced. Dr. T. J. Snodgrass and Dr. Fred E. Sutherland completed their post-mortem examination Thursday, finding every organ except the stomach in good condition.

What steps will be taken against Hanson and Maas hinges largely on the report of the pathologist. The arrest of the two was brought about on information furnished by Patrolman William Stacey, who knew that one of the youths he saw with Wixom Wednesday night stayed at the Grand hotel. He went there and summoned him to the police station.

Student Bound to Piling by Hazers

Chicago.—More than a score of students, former students and one official of Northwestern university were questioned at the office of Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, Thursday night, in an effort to solve the mystery surrounding the finding on Monday of the skeleton of Leighton Mount, a student at the university, who disappeared after a class rush in September, 1921.

Following the demand of the university trustees and young Mount's parents, grand jury investigation subpoenas were issued for several persons, while some 30 students were sent by the university authorities to the state's attorney's office for questioning.

Many Subpoenaed.—Among those for whom subpoenas were issued were: Fred Scott, Jr., a student at the time Mount vanished and the nephew of Walter Dill Scott, president of the university.

Arthur Persinger, a classmate of Mount's, who was said to have been bound to a post in Lake Michigan during the hazing.

Edward Thomas and Harry Brown, who released Persinger.

John Tomlinson, son of a vice president of an Evanston bank and a student, who said he saw Mount near the pier where his body was found.

Harry and Thomas Cook, student friends of Mount.

"We are going to clean up in this case," said Scott.

MRS. CLITHERO, OLD RESIDENT, DIES

Had Lived Here 73 Years—Prominent in Various Interests of Church.

Death at 3:30 Friday morning ended the long and useful life of Mrs. Mary A. Clithero, 75, who came to this city at the age of two, in 1849, and has lived here practically ever since. She had been ill at her home, 510 South bluff street, the past nine months.

She was born Sept. 3, 1847 at Parma, N. Y., and came to Janesville with her parents, J. M. and Caroline Clithero, among the early pioneers. She was married to Charles H. Patrick, this city, Dec. 24, 1872, and to them was born a son, Warren, who died early in life.

Following Mr. Patrick's death, she was again married, Nov. 7, 1877 to the Rev. Thomas Clithero, a minister in the old First Methodist church here, who during the following years made frequent changes in residence about the state, always returning to Janesville. He died in the fall of 1919.

Mrs. Clithero was an active member of the Methodist church and was in missionary societies, in which she took a great interest, for more than 50 years. She was more than ordinarily interested in church affairs, and commended these with a faithfulness to her family that was unusual. Throughout her entire life she was cheerful and hopeful, and made her home a place of joy and peace.

Surviving her are the children—Alice M., Howard E. and Pearl, all of this city; George C. and Frances C. (Mrs. George Clark); Avon; two brothers of Janesville, Charles N. and Murillo Tullis Riker; and two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Bennett, Springfield, Ill., and Mrs. George B. Hall, Rockford.

Funeral services at the home Sunday afternoon will be private, and at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, church services will be held at the Methodist church in the case of Mrs. Clithero, officiating at 3 o'clock. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

SUNDAY AMUSEMENT BILL IS PASSED

Madison.—The assembly passed, 45 to 37, and sent to the senate the Grabin bill, legalizing Sunday dancing, shows, sports and public diversions. Assemblyman Harry C. Milwaukee and Madison of Janesville, strongly opposed the bill, the former declaring it was backed by the moving picture interests and the latter declaring it was a poor law in that it did not apply to persons furnishing the amusement.

WHO CAN BEAT THIS RECORD AS GAZETTE SUBSCRIBER?

Forty-one years ago C. F. O'Neil who lives on route 7 near Leyden, made up his mind that he was going to be a subscriber to the Janesville Gazette and on Friday he came into the Gazette office and paid another year, subscription for the 41st time.

"It may be that there are others on your list who have had it in the family for longer or as long a time but I do not believe that any one name has remained there without a break as long as mine. If there is I'd like to know who it is. I have every receipt for the paper laid away in a box for all those years since I put my first subscription to Johnny Murphy in 1887."

WETS AND DRYS IN ACCORD AGAINST VOTING ON ISSUE

NOTHING TO BE GAINED UNDER PROPOSAL DECISION. GOVERNOR RAPPED

Alleged "On Fence" Policy in Campaign Assailed by Socialists.

Madison.—The Wisconsin senate Thursday night voted against a referendum of the people on the prohibition question, both wets and drys joining to bring its defeat.

The question was raised by the Seneca bill, calling for a vote on the proposed repeal of the 18th amendment and for modification of the Volstead act. Senator John C. Schumann urged his bill as an attempt to bring the liquor question out of politics.

This brought a reply from Senator Gettelman and Senator White, both wets, who declared nothing could be gained by the proposed vote. Gettelman said that people knew the state was wet now. A statement by Senator White that the democratic party was the only party to have its plank in its platform, brought a retort from Senator Polakowski, socialist, Milwaukee, who advised the senate that the socialist party had always been wet.

"And the candidates for this party," he said, "did not go around the state like Governor Blaine, being wet in wet districts and dry in dry districts."

The measure was killed without a roll call. The assembly voted 40 to 10 in favor of the measure. The senate committee reported for killing the "Prescott" resolution, calling on Senator La Follette to initiate legislation for modification of the Volstead act. No committee man voted favorably on the proposal.

WITH THE FARMERS

Farm Bureau Official Information

BELOIT ROCK-CO., C. T. A.

A herd of well bred cattle properly fed and cared for is a combination that is hard to beat.

The Beloit Cow Testing association, having four kinds of dairy cattle in it, is a good example of advantages of building for a dairy herd instead of staying at a standstill.

A grade Brown Swiss cow led the association for April. The cow owned by L. E. Kelsey produced 15.2 pounds of milk and 74.1 pounds of butterfat. There were 408 cows tested in April and 61 produced 40 pounds or better of fat. There were nine herds that had an average of a pound of fat-a-day or more per cow. When any farmer develops pound-of-fat-a-day cows he has a real dairy herd.

L. E. Kelsey has the honor of having high herd for the month. His Jerseys and Holsteins averaged 917 pounds of milk and 87.7 pounds of fat.

To show what culling and building will do to improve a herd, Kelsey started association work in January. The first month the herd averaged 23.8 pounds. February, 27.4; March, 32.5; April, 35.2. This means that it would take 23 cows averaging 25.8 pounds of fat to equal 20 good cows averaging 37.7 pounds of fat. "Why feed the extra nine cows when 20 good cows will produce the same amount of milk and fat?" asks Paul Hollinger, tester.

Tanlac Alone Put Glow of Health Back in Chicago Girl's Cheeks, She States.

"I am so healthy and happy now that I almost monopolize the spare time of my friends, telling them about the Tanlac treatment," recently declared Miss Evelyn Marcolle, 1419 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

"I was so run-down it tired me out to stand on my feet any length of time. I was pale and nervous and could never sleep well. I also had violent headaches and attacks of indigestion that almost drove me frantic. I had spent so much money without getting better I began to think nothing could help me.

"But the Tanlac treatment has built me up in weight and strength and put the glow of health back into my cheeks. My troubles are gone completely, and I feel just fine in every way. My mother, who was also in a run-down condition, has taken Tanlac with splendid results. Nothing pleases me better than to praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

Now, a Quick
Quaker Oats

Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes
The quickest cooking oats in the world

Now your grocer has Quaker Oats in two styles. One the kind you have always known—the other is Quick Quaker.
Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. And it cooks to perfection. So it is almost like a ready-cooked dish.
No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly.
The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flaky oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.
But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.
Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both.
But always get Quaker Oats for their delightful flavor.

2,000 EXPECTED TO HUNT FOR EGGS

Kiwanis Club's Annual Frolic, Saturday—May Fete to Follow.

Two thousand Janesville children are expected to participate in the second annual egg hunt and May fete at the court house park, Saturday afternoon, under Kiwanis club auspices. The children will march in a parade from the city hall on North Jackson street to the upper end of court house park, starting at 1:30 p. m.

The parade will be led by the Janesville high school band which will also furnish the music for the May fete dance being arranged by the Y. M. C. A. Practice for the dance, it is announced, will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in the upper part of court house park.

Kiwanians will tomorrow morning hide the several hundred plain eggs, and the 73 eggs with the "K" printed upon them, each of which will entitle the finder to $1 to be given by President Harry Haggart, who, loaded with silver dollars, will be stationed on the court house steps. The May fete will follow at 4:15.

Rules Are Announced

1. The hunt is for all boys and girls of grade school age.
2. All children in the kindergarten, first, second and third grades will meet on Court street east of East street at 1 p. m.
3. All children of fourth grade and over will meet at the city hall at 2 p. m. No children will be allowed to enter the court house park who do not meet with these two groups and march to the park in their own group.
4. A special area at the east end of the court house park will be reserved for the small children who will have their egg hunt first.
5. Children will march to the park in their respective groups and will not be allowed to enter the grounds until the bugle blows. All will have a fair chance to go in at that time. As soon as a child finds an egg with a "K" on it (there will be 73 hidden) he will call out "I found one" and will report to Harry Haggart, who will be standing on the front steps of the court house, and who will hand the child $1, only one prize to each child.

7. Any child who is unruly or who violates any of the above rules will be barred from the park and not allowed to take part in the egg hunt.

Request: Owners of automobiles are requested to refrain from parking their cars on the court house side of any of the streets surrounding the court house square. This request is made to avoid accidents. The Kiwanis club feels responsible for the protection of the children and asks the cooperation of all interested.

University of Wisconsin gymnasts, scheduled for the circus, can appear only on Saturday night's program, as the expense of bringing them here, although they themselves receive nothing, is too great to keep them over for two nights.

Persinger was a sophomore at the time and Mount a freshman.

Saw Youth Bound — "We saw a canoe put out to the piling late that night," they said. "Two men were paddling and another was lying bound in the bottom of the craft. When they reached the piling they tied the third man to it, rowed back and departed in an automobile."

Going out to investigate, they found Persinger, bound hand and foot and tied to the piling. He was blindfolded and gagged.

"Persinger lay four feet from the water and there was not a ripple on the lake," one of the witnesses said. "But had a northeast squall come up he would have been drowned."

Several students have testified that they saw Mount starting for home from the campus several hours after Persinger had been rescued and the police believe he was captured by upper classmen and hazed in retaliation for the seizure of Persinger.

Fred Scott said he had not taken any part in the rush following which Mount disappeared. He said that the next day he went out with a party of newspaper men to search for the missing student.

The coroner's inquest was indefinitely adjourned Friday after hearing a few witnesses.

CLARKE MAY ADDRESS CONVENTION HERE

John H. Clarke, former justice of the United States supreme court, may visit Janesville as the most distinguished guest and speaker at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Bar association, here the last week in June.

Mr. Clarke is not available for speeches and an invitation has been extended by the state association. There is strong likelihood that he will accept.

At least four county superintendents and other distinguished educators of southern Wisconsin will be among the guests in attendance at the teachers' luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. here Saturday at 12:30, when the latter will give an annual address to Topeka high school pupils.

Supt. Frank O. Holt will preside.

The Tragedy in Bootleg Liquor.

Janesville has faced its first tragedy caused by bootleg liquor. The responsibility is not altogether with the men who drank it, one of whom is dead with a saddened family. It becomes necessary to drive these distributors of poison out of the city and keep them out. There can be no compromise. If a citizen can get the stuff the seller can be apprehended. We have some miserable hell holes in one place and another and they should be cleaned clean. Chief Newman has no strings tied to him now, no one to plead that the seller is a "good fellow" and the court has the law in front of it to make it so interesting that repetition will hardly come. One good shot fired from an American vessel put the ocean rum-fleet to flight. A few good well-planted shots of the law here may make it impossible for a bootlegger to live in this community.

City Lots in a Swamp.

The warning sent out by the Janesville Chamber of Commerce to its members in its last report, of the real estate speculation at Muscle Shoals should also be supplemented by further details as to what has been happening. Using the name of Henry Ford with which to conjure up a deeper interest, it has been possible for the real estate crooks to muster a regiment of suckers who have purchased city lots in Alabama farm lands miles from nowhere and never possible to be anywhere. The land is swamp, mountain or so poor that it would be hard to raise even a disturbance on it. Under the caption, "City of 2-000,000 at Muscle Shoals under Management of Henry Ford," advertising and propaganda articles have appeared and strange to say, some newspapers, managed as they are by human persons, have fallen victims to the smooth promoters who have advertised a fortune in investments in these city lots in Alabama. The Tennessee Power Company has issued a warning that it is all blue sky.

In its position as a home newspaper the Gazette is of the opinion that the warning printed in these columns some weeks ago has kept readers from falling victims of the stock salesmen of these lots. One might better invest in foot frontage in the center of Lake Koshkonong than in these sand hills, swamps and mountain sides in Alabama.

Unchecked radicalism will kill liberty.

"On Wisconsin!"

Established by the federal military law from killing the national guard of the state outright and unable to murder it slowly by attrition through starvation, it seems that the powers at Madison, in charge of state government, have found it wise to appoint an undertaker ready to embalm the remaining units of the guard when the time comes for its complete demise. So we have the spectacle of the guard used as a political instrument and for the first time the adjutant general has been named for reasons political.

Since the very beginning of the military establishment of the state, the guard has escaped all political machinations, even more sacred from political consideration than the judiciary. The office of adjutant general has been heretofore held by men of the highest ability and integrity.
They have been named after long service and many long years in guard upbuilding. There has been Gen. Charles King, and Chandler Chapman and Charles Boardman—the last commander of the 63rd brigade in the World War, and Orlando Holway, to whose superhuman efforts the guard owed much in training and equipment when it went away to France. These men are now faded into memories. They have been succeeded by a second "lot" who has only a record for carrying political messages and running errands for leaders in the progressive-socialist party, second to none in Wisconsin. He has also been an officer in the front line of trenches in Trempealeau county for a couple of years. He entered the realm of state-wide prominence when he secured the discharge of a law student who was earning his way through the university by being telephone operator at the capitol, on the charge made by Mr. Immelt that the operator was "listening in" on messages sent from the governor's office. That may not have been equal to the record of the Sixty-Third brigade overseas, but it was something to talk about and a noble victory for Mr. Immelt. It may be added that Mr. Immelt was overseas. Now he is adjutant general.

"On Wisconsin!"

Up to date the legislature has entirely overlooked the saxophone evil.

We have never attempted in the United States to place the government in charge of the religion of its people nor to dictate what church man shall attend or how he shall worship. In this late century we leave that to Russia where the "Living Church," established by the bolsheviks must be THE church or one is liable to be hanged or shot. They're nice people over there.

WHY WOMEN WORK

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington.—Most women work because they need the money. Such is the conclusion reached as a result of a survey made by the Women's bureau of the Department of Labor.

Women who are working may greet this report with derisive laughter and comment on it sarcastically to the effect that it must have required an extremely exhaustive investigation to establish a fact that is as obvious as the noses on the investigators.

However, there is a reason for it. The rapidly increasing number of women in industry, in business and in the professions is creating economic problems that are not to be solved off-hand. For instance, what will be the effect of this tendency upon marriage, the family and the future of the race? And, again, what will be the ultimate effect of the competition between men and women in similar fields of work and endeavor?

Is it possible that the more women there are who work the more there will be of the succeeding generation who will have to work? Is it all due to the high cost of living, and is the world fast approaching a situation in which it will be impossible for the average man to earn enough or produce enough to support the average family without assistance from those who should be his dependents?

Are women lured into the money-making game primarily by a desire to assert and establish their economic independence, or are they led into it by modern standards of living that are unduly high?
Is it the cost of high living rather than the high cost of living that is at the bottom of the trouble?
Or, again, has woman gone out of her "natural sphere" because she has found housework and domesticity distasteful and unsatisfactory, or been driven out by man's insistence upon controlling the purse strings and his selfishness in the distribution of the family income?

These are some of the questions growing out of the problem that is recognized as sufficiently real and important to call for study by a governmental agency. It is possible, also, that these questions were supplemented by a masculine growl to the effect that most women work for fun, or for something to do, or so they will have an excuse to stray from under the family tree and get out where they will meet or be associated with men constantly, and that the women were impelled to demonstrate that such is not at all the case.

It is undoubtedly true that the World War contributed largely to the problem and complicated it by forcing women into industrial occupations never before undertaken by them. "The Industrial Code," a recent work on industrial relations, in discussing this says:

"Under stress of national necessity it was found that women could do almost any kind of work man can do. Handicaps therefore accepted as insurmountable were overcome quickly and easily.
Was it a question of clothing—hampering skirts, petticoats and the like? The impedimenta were discarded promptly and the overalls of male workers were adopted. Was it a matter of interior physical strength? Then inventive genius came forward with a machine or a method that minimized the physical demands. Was it a question of environment—of moral and sex hazards to which,
under the old order, common acceptance ruled that women should not be subjected? Then society immediately reared around the women workers a protective wall of sentiment and public opinion that guaranteed them an immunity never before enjoyed. It was found many occupations had been closed to women for no reason other than tradition or custom and it was also found women excelled at tasks at which it had been believed only men could be proficient. Contrary to expectations, it was found standards of productivity in many instances were raised instead of lowered as a result of the introduction of women workers in industries theretofore reserved to men."

It was when the man returned from war service and found a woman in his old position that the trouble really began, for the situation immediately obtained of two workers for one job, creating competition that tended inevitably to ward the reduction of wages and salaries. That was a bad situation from the labor standpoint, and the fact that some employers were not slow to take advantage of it made it all the more acute. Many of the women continued at work.
Hence the inquiry.

"We all know the more fact of so many women at work is important," says the statement of the Women's bureau, "and one that has much bearing on the organization of our present life. But we can not get the final significance of this fact until we know why so many women are working."
"Women work because they need the money, not only to support themselves, but for an even more urgent service, to help in the support of their families. This statement may be a surprise to you; it is surprising to many people who for some reason think that most women are at work just for fun or excitement. But it is a true statement, and if you will look around you, you will see that it is true."

The case of what is termed a typical family is then cited. The father does not earn sufficient money to support the family. The mother does not work—"all she does is the cooking and the housework and the cleaning and looking out for the two youngest children and making their clothes and a few other little jobs." The girl is up her spare time. The two older children, a boy of 20 and a girl of 18, both work. The boy makes 20 a week as a mechanic and turns over $12 of that to the family exchequer. The girl earns $12 in a box factory, and she turns over to her mother every week her entire pay envelope, unopened, and she gets back for herself only what her mother can spare.

In the case of single women who are working, the bureau found an invalid mother or a working out father not uncommon, and as the years go on their responsibilities are apt to increase.

In the United States as a whole, about one woman of every five is gainfully employed. In the District of Columbia the percentage is much higher than anywhere else, the inquiry discovering the fact that almost one-half of the women here are earning money. After the District of Columbia comes South Carolina, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, where not far from one-third of the women are gainfully employed.

Only about one-fifth of the wage-earning women are married, but that one-fifth is working for the same reason as the other four-fifths—because they need the money.

"Think of what their day's work means to them," says the bureau. "Getting up early in the morning to get breakfast and set the house to rights, to dress and feed the children and get them off to school, working till late in the afternoon, and then hurry home to get the evening meal, wash dishes, put the children to bed and do the sewing and mending for the family."
"Is this the life which any woman would choose to live just for fun?"

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
THE DARK DAYS.

Let us bear
With our care
Till the sky above
Grows fair
And the sun comes shining out with the splendor of his light;
Let us smile
Nor while O'er the long
And dreary mile
For the battle isn't over till we've lost the heart to fight.

Let us say
To the gray
Cold and cheerless
Rainy day:
We are troubled, we are weary and disaster you portend.

But the pain
And the pain
Shall not set us
To complete
We may breathe our burden, but we'll bear it to the end!

There is none,
Till the sun
Whom the sun
Has smiled upon,
None of all the dead or living who has laughed
the year away;
All have felt Trembling
And the stinging rains
That pelt.
All have wept and all have suffered just as we who grieve today.

So when we Cannot see
What the end
Is going to be,
When we feel Tired and weary, 'neath the burdens we must bear.

Let us say
To the day
That is cheerless,
Cold and gray:
"We shall keep our faith undaunted till the sky again grows fair."

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

The edict has gone forth that there shall be a distance of two feet between persons who are dancing together. The old check-the-jowl method has gone out of style and will not be countenanced at any of the resort hotels or city ballrooms this year.

The Stranger Leaning head, the half-Nelson and the tangle will be quickly banished.

No young lady will be allowed to rub her complexion off on the face of her male partner.

Couple will stay so far apart everybody will think they have been married eight or ten years.
If a lady really has been married that long this will be no hard trick to do.

Young lady shall not park her chin on gentleman's shoulder or get her brooch tangled up in his watch chain.

The only dancing girl will be that of holding hands as they used to do when playing "London Bridge is Falling Down." In other words dancing teams shall practically travel in double harness, or tandem.

Any gent whose shirt-front shows a spot of rouge or his coat a spot of powder shall be ruled off the floor for the season.

Young couples will carefully note the new order of things and then do as they please.

Who's Who Today

CHARLES B. WARREN.

The recent appointment of Charles B. Warren to be one of two United States commissioners to meet with two Mexican appointees to "exchange impressions" regarding possible recognition of Mexico by the U. S. did not surprise close followers of activities in the diplomatic circles.

Warren's work as ambassador to Japan stamped him as a man equipped to handle such a delicate subject.
Washington, officials state, Warren was named ambassador to Tokyo in June, 1921, and served at that post until recently.

He was born in Bay City, Mich., April 10, 1870, was graduated at the University of Michigan and took a post graduate course at the Detroit college of law. He began the practice of law in Detroit in 1893 and still maintains that practice. He is a member of the firm of Warren, Gault, Hill and Hamblin.

One of his first important public assignments was as associate counsel for the U. S. before the joint high commission to determine Bering Sea claims in 1896. He was counsel for the U. S. in the North Atlantic in 1910.

When the world war broke out he was commissioned a major in the Reserve Corps and later attached to the staff of the judge advocate general. He had been promoted to colonel when discharged in 1919 and received the Distinguished Service Medal for his services.

He has been prominent in Republican organization circles, serving as delegate at large at the G. O. C. convention in 1908 and as a member of the G. O. C. National committee and executive committee since 1912.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
May 4, 1883.—There are ten firms in Janesville now engaged in the clothing and merchant tailoring business, giving employment to a number of people, ranking in magnitude with the clothing business of any city of this size in

THIRTY YEARS AGO
May 4, 1893.—Car No. 4 of the street railway was wrecked by a Milwaukee train going north at the crossing near the power house, which the street car had just left, headed for Forest Park this morning. Conductor J. D. King and motorman Peter Connors jumped when they saw the danger, and as there were no passengers none was hurt. The car was pushed 20 feet and smashed.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
May 4, 1903.—A runaway Saturday night injured five people. Three men were thrown and hurt while the horse ended his wild chase by crashing into a buggy, injuring two others.

TEN YEARS AGO
May 4, 1913.—Attorney General Owen holds it legal to build over the river, this settling a question which has been pending since the fire of a month ago when the bridge buildings were destroyed. A petition was circulated asking that

DO HAVE SOME MORE IODIN

The wool poor sheep, the hairless pig, and the bald headed man—farther from me to the hairless man, as scientific proof for associating these three phenomena. I just suggest the idea that all three of them may have something to blame their food for, or to grow more accurately, they may not have something which they ought to—well, why beat about the bush? Is the lack of sufficient iodine in water or food accountable for failure of growth of hair?

Premature loss of hair, thinning hair, premature graying or fading of the hair are commonly seen in persons with deficient thyroid gland function, the thyroid gland regulates and discharges the iodine in the body. On the other hand, persons with excessive thyroid function, such as occurs in hyperthyroidism, often have a remarkably fine luxuriant growth of hair.

The hairlessness of the pig and the wool poverty of the sheep may be caused by supplying the animals with an adequate amount of iodine, in or with their daily feed. I do not say that iodine will cure baldness. Let there be no possible misunderstanding.

A suitable iodine remedy, such as an adequate iodine ration may prevent —prevent, not cure—premature falling of the hair and premature gray-ness, just as it may prevent premature wrinkling of the skin, premature hardening of the arteries, premature aging of the whole body.

I have told here how you may make sure of getting the iodine in your ration. I referred to the fact that nearly all domestic salt now contains practically no iodine, whereas sea salt is rich in iodine. I have also told you of Dr. Quimby, who believes that an adequate iodine ration prevents high blood pressure, has high tonic virtues, increases excretion of the kidneys, improves the circulation, especially when the individual has cold hands and cold feet and a cold skin. Dr. Quimby even advises a pro-pious iodine ration to prevent the onset of old age, to postpone the onset of old age, to restore the worn out or exhausted business man something of his former pep.

The only iodine ration would no doubt prevent simple goitre in thousands of children, just as minute doses of iodine in one form or another prevent simple goitre in a few weeks and spring and fall have prevented goitre in thousands of school children.

Sea food—any edible plant or fish or shell fish from the sea—is an ideal source of iodine, but people living far from the sea get little sea food, sometimes practically none, owing to transportation expense. Nevertheless

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
If You Want to Be a Nurse.
Is it worth going through the necessary for one who wishes to enter a training school for nurses? How or where can I learn the particulars and to whom should I apply? (Miss J. S.)

Answer—Talk it over with your family physician before deciding.
Many training schools nowadays do require complete high school course as preliminary, but will then accept good reason why a young woman with only a year of high school study should not make a good nurse. The high school book learning is spelling a lot of otherwise promising nurses—makes them superior to the actual duties of the calling. Information about any and all good training schools may be obtained free by writing to American School of Nursing, 1515 Capitol building, Chicago, Ill., or 1101 Times building, New York, N. Y.

It is harmful for young people to eat at the same table at dinner, especially with a tubercular subject (W. B. G.)

Answer—Tuberculosis bacilli may be conveyed through droplet or spray infection, as are all the other respiratory infections. This spray, so fine that it is mostly invisible, shows up from the talker's face for a distance of about four feet, unless the talker uses a small table in the kitchen, or chief, hand or a mask. Therefore if the tubercular individual has open mouth, or a running nose, or coughing, or sneezing, or spitting, or anything being given off in the sputum, one sitting next him or facing him may inhale a small amount of the infection, in the case of tuberculosis, if this is a frequent or daily occurrence, one may presently develop the disease. In the case of some other respiratory infections, such as common coryza, diphtheria, cerebro-spinal meningitis, probably a single exposure —a mere splash from the victim just coming down, so to speak—may infect a healthy person, or even customer across the counter, but with tuberculosis, owing to our greater immunity, it is necessary to be exposed to a considerable period of time, or to a considerable number of infectious particles, before the disease develops. When they are developing what they call a "cold," yet wear no mask nor take any precaution to keep off unsuspecting associates, subject all who come within five feet of them to the chance of catching the disease.
The alleged "cold" may prove to be. This is, however, the custom of the country.

Q. Is "pigeon English" a combination of English and Chinese? A.
M. F.

Pigeon English is a combination of English and Portuguese molten metal through a die—a steel plate perforated with a hole containing a central core—by hydraulic pressure.

Q. Is Edison known as the founder of electrical science? T. T.

A. The title of founder of electrical science dates far back of Ed-

William Gilbert, a physician of Queen Elizabeth's reign, who conducted a number of experiments in the several important discoveries relating to the science and art of electricity and magnetism.

Q. Does it rain more in London in the banks of this country in a year? C. W. W.

A. During the year 1921 more than six billion checks, totaling more than $100 billion dollars, or more than eighty times the amount of actual currency in the United States, passed through the clearing houses of this country.

Q. What phrases in current use

Girl of Ghost Mountain

By J. ALLAN DUNN
Author of "A Man to His Ma te," "Rimrock Trail," "The Man Trap." Copyright by Small, Maynard and Company, and published by arrangement with McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

SYNOPSIS.—Peter Sheridan, young New York lawyer, rancher in Arizona because of threatened tuberculosis, Chico, a boy, his ranch, is near Ghost Mountain, on which he and his foreman, Red Jackson, discover a woman, though, however, to be a ghost. At Motal, the nearby town, Sheridan, rustler and bad man, attacks a Chinaman who is rescued by Sheridan and installed as cook at the ranch. Later Sheridan is aware that Ghost Mountain is inhabited by a young woman and a giant Swedish maid. Throwing the rustler and his gang are going to raid the place, Peter and Red plan to rescue the woman. They make the trail, by the cabin on the mountain and are entertained. The rustlers arrive and are fed waffles by the woman. Returning from a visit to the girl of Ghost Mountain, Sheridan and Jackson find the ranch has been raided and Quong, the Chinaman, taken away. They follow and rescue Quong. It is apparent that the Chinaman has some secret which interests the gang of rustlers wish to obtain.

The more he saw of her the more he marvelled. Brought up by a dreaming naturalist and a romantic, invalid mother in a remote New England village, without liberal education, without the vision of the world, contact with the world, she showed a grasp of things that astonished him. The fighting spirit that had brought her to the wilderness, that promised with the vision of the world, ultimately to turn the hidden Homestead into a paying ranch, he could understand. It was transmitted to her from clean-blooded, vigorous stock. And he could only think that the same attributes furnished her with a brain so well nourished that she was able to see things with a clear, wide vision. He did not flatter himself that her slight might be stimulated by a personal interest in Peter Sheridan.

But he found several occasions to ride over to Ghost Mountain, usually at the end of the afternoon. Jackson invariably accompanied him. And, while Sheridan gazed with an amused eye upon the coming of the rustler, who rode over there was no mistaking the thrill laid upon the face of the Amazon, who appeared none too eager to respond beyond friendly greetings. He did not turn his eyes toward her, but he might be rowing in the same boat with Jackson. His project held him. Goats, the beginning of a lush Arizona heath appeared from the fruit trees were set out. The place was well managed. The goats were fenced off in sections with movable hog fencing, set to eat the brush and fertilize the land for better crops. And the two women did it alone. They would not hear of help from the Chico S.

"When we can afford to hire a hand, we may to see," said Mary Burrows definitely, as they sat one evening after supper on their favorite perch, a saddle between two flange crabs, overlooking the mesa at sunset. "But until we do so we shall get along by ourselves. Are we not doing well?"

"Excellent, but—" "That, sir, is a forbidden word in the hidden Homestead. No more another, distinctly feminine, because—or I would use it to end the argument. Tell me about the project."

"Don't you want to open your letters to Sheridan? He has been to Ploche on business and had brought back two letters from the General Delivery," despite the girl's assertion, that she did not expect any mail. She produced them from the pocket of her gown.

"One is not important," she laughed. "I would like to look at the other."

She showed him the one, an advertisement, from Ploche's biggest store, an announcement of a Grand Millinery Opening with styles direct from Paris and New York.

"I look well wearing a Paris hat and gown up here," he said, looking at her with a flash of the small, perfect teeth in the smile that he had become so eager to provoke. And he fell to wondering just how

HEART AND HOME

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it polite for girls to clap at a show if a young fellow accompanies them?
DUMPLINGS.
It is correct to clap at a theater, but not a moving picture show. Clapping is an expression of approval which shows the actors that their work is appreciated.

BETTY AND JANE: "T. B." stands for tuberculosis.

BUE: Write the girl a note and ask if she will go to a theater with you on a certain night. I haven't any idea whether or not she is the girl who wrote to me.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When spending Sunday at a lake is it all right to wear knickers? I am 16 years old.

Knickers are considered correct outing apparel for girls and women as well as men.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl in my teens. A boy two years my senior used to take me out quite often and then he moved away. I don't hear much of him or see him and I think he goes with other girls. I know I can never give him up. What shall I do?
REMEMBRANCE.
You have no choice in the matter. If he has given you up and the whole thing for you is over, forget about him and wait for some one else who will interest you and be interested in you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am an 18 year old expectant mother. My husband left me after he learned he was to be a father and went to his parents to live. I have not seen him for over a month. Very lately his mother died and I had not learned of the sad news until yesterday after she had been buried.

She was nice to me in one way and in another way she wasn't. I do not like to say unkind things of any one, but in order to make you understand I must tell you that I have reason to know that my husband's people were the cause of his leaving me. I have felt very sad and blue about it since.

Had I known of his mother's death I would have sent flowers to their home, but because I had not heard of this happening until she was buried, I was unable to do so. My husband has a sister whom I like a good deal, although I have not seen her for several months. Would it be all right to telephone her and tell her the reason why I did not send flowers and how much I regret that I was unable to do so? Would it be all right to say that I would like to go to the cemetery on Decoration day and plant flowers on her grave, inviting her to go along?

My husband's people and I have not been on friendly terms for several months and do you think it would be correct for me to show this kindness?

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.
My dear girl, I am afraid kindness to your husband and to his people would be wasted and only result in humiliation for you. A man who would leave his wife as your husband has left you is a pretty poor specimen of man. My advice is to consult a lawyer and arrange for legal separation. I know you love your husband and you would not show so much consideration of his people, but your love is not appreciated. Even if reconciliation were effected, I do not believe that your husband would make you happy for any length of time. In case you seek a divorce, by all means ask for alimony. Your husband is shirking his obligations far too easily.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Register and Tribune Syndicate.
Dear Mother, I hope to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

The small booklet, "Care of the Baby," may be had by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope and asking for it.

Materials Needed for a Layette.
This article is intended as information on the amounts of material necessary when buying for the baby's first outfit. Won't you please cut this out and save it? Almost every day some one asks me for a repetition of something that has been printed frequently, because she "forgot" to save it. I don't mind repeating anything, but I don't want to bore my readers with the same information over and over.

Twelve yards of muslin or fine long cloth will make three slips, three flannel dresses and two skirts. Three and one-half yards of dimity or any of the finer fabrics will make two dainty dress-up frocks for "company."

Five yards of outing flannel will make three night gowns.
One and one-half yards of flannel or cashmere will make a flannel wrap, one and three-fourths yards will make four dainty jackets to wear morning and evening when it is cool.

Two bolts of diapering (bird's eye cotton is the best choice) will furnish the diapers. Buy the 24-inch and the 27-inch and the inch and a half twenty diapers and the second eight teen. Three dozen diapers ought to carry one through nicely.

One and one-half yards of 36-inch elderdown is sufficient for a "Baby Bunting" wrap. Buy the 36-inch and the 27-inch and the inch and a half twenty diapers and the second eight teen. Three dozen diapers ought to carry one through nicely.

Two squares of elderdown make excellent blankets to be used either in the baby's basket or to be wrapped about him just at first.

Five skeins of Saxony yarn will knit four pairs of booties and two pairs of mittens.

Patterns for first clothes may be bought in any pattern department. For dresses use a one-year size. This may seem very large but unless you have a finished income the infant size garment is too readily outgrown to be of any practical use. A large plait at the shoulder will draw the sleeve up all that is necessary to make it comfortable at first and the young rascals spread and lengthen so quickly that in four months this usually can be let out and the garment will fit perfectly.

A self-addressed, stamped envelope (not loose stamps) will bring you the new leaflet on feeding the baby from seven months to three years. You may have this for the asking.

MANICURE SCISSORS.
One of the most useful implements invented is the little pair of manicure scissors which every woman possesses. It's much too useful for it tempts one to keep the edges of the nails smooth by cutting away the little pieces of skin that collect and grow down over the nail. It's so much easier to cut off this skin than to keep it pressed back gently into place, for if it is cut smoothly the nails will look well for about a week and need not be touched, whereas the orangewood stick must be used once or twice a day to keep them nice looking otherwise.

The various cuticle removers on the market are a boon to the woman who cannot afford the time or expense of a professional manicurist. These remove the dead skin from the nail and in most cases give a smooth finish without any further trouble. However, great care must be taken for these which are only diluted oxalic acid, are very drying, and in the end will make this tender skin rough and dry. Whenever a cuticle remover is used, the fingers should be scrubbed thoroughly with warm water, soap and a small brush after the dead skin has been scraped away. Then a little cream should be rubbed thoroughly into the nails and around them and allowed to stay on several minutes.

There are times, of course, when manicure scissors must be used, even though the cuticle remover will leave jagged ends, and it will never get out the odd bits of skin that collect on each side of the nail in those little corners where the nail grows out of the flesh. But do not overdo the manicure scissors habit. Cuticle, cut too often, will grow tough and unsightly. The chief thing to remember in taking care of the nails is to treat them well with oil or cold cream and to push back the cuticle each time after the hands are washed.

Rings—I am sorry that I cannot help you, but it would be impossible to give the names of business people. I, M.—You did not state your age, so I cannot tell you what your weight should be, except that a girl of 20, five feet six inches, should weigh about 128 pounds. Add or subtract a half pound for each year either way.

Hopful—Stretch this fine hair by using peroxide. Coarser hair may be extracted with the tweezers.
Ruth C.—The formula for the hair tonic will be mailed to you if you send a stamped addressed envelope.
E. E. S.—The nail biting habit is usually cured by painting, under the tips of the nails, a very little bit of bitter aloes. It is not harmful and only serves as a reminder by its extreme bitterness each time you forget.

Tomorrow—How Perfumes Are Made.

Why Bake at Home

Cool Weather Hinders Track Meet-Pin Meet Concludes

FIELD SHELTERED FROM RAW WINDS; 12 SCHOOLS ENTER

A sudden change in the weather to cooler with a temperature of 58 at Hamilton field is expected to work to keep performances lower than usual at the second annual revival of the Whitewater high school track and field meet Friday. The kids probably will be unable to get up the "wee-wee" necessary to beat former marks. The field, however, is sheltered from the wind.

Better than 200 athletes were flowing into the enclosure shortly after noon Friday. They gathered from 12 schools of southern Wisconsin.

Track in Great Shape.
The cinder path was in excellent condition for the classic. "Chick" Agnew, athletic director of the normal, has had a gang of men at work for the past week rolling the track. Final touches were put upon it Friday morning.

The affair early took on the atmosphere of a football game. Crowds of spectators followed their teams to Whitewater giving a gay touch with school colors flying and spring clothes flashing. The Whitewater band added to the general good spirit.

Janesville Sends 20 Men.
Janesville high school arrived at Whitewater shortly after noon. 20 strong. It is the first invasion into the track and field sports in years for the Blue institution, but they are looked upon to make a good showing in the initial start.

Schools participating are Janesville, Milton Union, Edgerton, Evansville, Stoutsville, Jefferson, Kenosha, Lake Geneva, Madison Central, Madison University high and Whitewater normal.

WHITWATER NORMAL HIGH HAS THIRTY-ONE ENTRIES.
Whitewater Normal High school has 31 entries in the "prep" school meet being held here Friday afternoon. The commercial institution is looked upon as having a fair chance to place, although Kenosha is the strongest contender, along with the three Madison schools.

JEFFERSON IS SENDING SQUAD OF 10 ATHLETES.
Jefferson—An enthusiastic squad of track men has been working out daily at the fair grounds. Although all of the men are new and inexperienced, they are expected to make for a good team for next year.

Planning, Wetzel, Longley, Beck and Brandel are working in the dashes. Kluckow, Shannon, Fried and Sumner are doing the best work in the field events. A number of other out-actors are likely to form of the events. They should develop into good men in another year.

Superintendent Earl C. MacIntosh sent 10 men to the meet at Whitewater. An effort will be made to schedule a meet for the following Saturday, probably with Cambridge. May 19th, the Rock River Valley League will hold its first annual meet at Edgerton.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

A FISHING article which has just come to this desk closes with the remark that the true sportsman plays fair and that after all it is by playing fair that a man becomes an expert. That is something vital to think about. The guy who doesn't play fair and as a consequence he doesn't get the sport he is following. Can never hope to get to that wonderful place where he will stand head and shoulders above his fellows. His mind is so intent upon winning by hook or crook that he never has a chance to stop or learn the fine points that form the chap who is out of the ordinary.

DOWN IN GOTHAM, which is eastern for New York, the leaders of tennis are going hot on the trail of the muzzles to introduce the game to them in an effort to make it more popular. Thursday night, these heroes of the racket performed free at twilight in order to let the largest number of working people see them in action. William T. Tilden, H. Vincent Richards and Bill Johnston, Mayor Hylan of the Metropolis was also there. Who said tennis was not democratic?

SHELBY, Mo., is where the Dempsey-Gibbons fight is to be held. It is the article which is the creation is that asks the ordinary man. Shelby has a population of 3,752. It is located 40 miles south of the Canadian border and is a prosperous town. It was established 40 years ago as a cow town, increased with the land boom and dropped to 300 folks when hit by a series of dry seasons. Talk about wild places being back towns. The men from that "rube" locality have already put up $100,000 for the match. They're either daffy or darned good business men.

TEAMS of copy are beginning to pour from the mills of the scribbling class to the effect that the proposed Dempsey-Gibbons fight is not much of a match. The writers are sending out stories that Gibbons is not a fit opponent. They are declaring that if the bout is held at Shelby it cannot hope to be a success because it will not be able to draw as large a crowd as any of the larger cities. These critics believe thousands will flock to the scene, if it comes off, but just the same they are dubious of the entire proposition.

RANKS of the amateurs are near a turmoil because the governing body of the Amateur Athletic Union has refused permission to Charlie Paddock to run at Paris and to permit American girl swimming stars to go abroad. It is difficult to get a man who is all about the United States needs to keep on sending as many athletes as possible abroad, not alone for the fame of the States, but to promote better relations with the rest of the world. What we want little of is any scrap, but perhaps after the facts are known there may be reasons that the public does not know at present.

Illinois may put bass opening at June 15.

FOR ASSOCIATED PRESS.—(By A. P.)—Tygers broke tie for first place in American league, defeating Cleveland, 6-5 and passed their way to top of heap. Through victory over Washington, 5-2, Yankees slipped into second place. Boston's Indians were dancing into third—Hard hitting by St. Louis won over Chicago, 6-5, giving Browns even break in series.

Frank Robinson by Boston's infield while Philadelphia's defense was checking gave Red Sox 3-1 victory over Athletics. Gimmi's three bawler which helped Pittsburgh defeat Cincinnati, 3-1, featured National league individual performances—It was 16th consecutive game this season in which the Pirates slugged batter safely—Brooklyn, with heavy bombardment, broke losing streak to New York by trimming Giants, 11-2.

Heise Smashes 235 Count as He Places in Singles

With three changes among the leaders, Janesville's greatest city bowling tournament drew to a close Thursday night.

The work of Heise of the Gazette in the singles was the closing feature. Rolling Thursday afternoon, "Wee Willie" gathered an actual count of 235. In his second game, he tore through the maples for a count of 235, starting with four straight strikes. He hit 201 in his first game and were it not for blows in the third game would have come through into the 600 class. His count with handicap was 612 for 10th place.

Talored with Herbert Huebel, Heise shot into eighth in the doubles at a tally of 1158. Their natural total was 1,115. The duo wound up in strong fashion, Huebel tumbling 206 and Heise 202. Huebel suffered six splits in his games.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul No. 2 team rushed into ninth place in the team event with 2,802. Their actual score was 2,222.

Awards of prize money are to be announced Saturday, said Dr. S. P. Richards, secretary of the Janesville Bowling Association, Friday.

THREAT OF BALK APPROPRIATIONS MADE BY BLAINE

approval of any bill making an appropriation to meet with a mill tax is or may be the source of revenue. To that extent the governor has the power to carry out, in part, the demand with the people, if one third of the members of each house shall agree to sustain the disapproval of the executive.

World Hit Schools.
"Having fulfilled my obligations, in so far as it has been possible, I shall continue to present the facts and emphasize platform obligations in an endeavor to persuade those having the responsibility, that a party pledge is more than a scrap of paper to be tossed aside after election."

To emphasize what his warning means, the governor said that "the mill taxes on real and personal property for the university and normal schools amount to $2,500,000 annually, and appropriation bills for these two institutions carry large additional amounts."

Hits Income Surtax.
Governor Blaine expressed opposition to surtaxes on incomes, and let it be known that his own tax bill was the one that carried out the republican platform pledges in his opinion.

What effect this statement will have on the finance committee will be seen after the vote on his bill late Friday afternoon.

Mickey Walker Beats Schlaifer

Chicago-Alleycat Walker, the world's champion welterweight, earned a six round technical knockout over Morris Schlaifer of Omaha, Neb., here last night.

Referee Harry Barto, Jersey City, stopped the fight after Schlaifer had been knocked down three times and was hanging helpless on the ropes in his own corner.

Schlaifer won the first two rounds and had Walker bleeding from the mouth in the second. The third was even. Walker got the range in the fourth and Schlaifer was missing thereafter.

Fenske Here on State Meet

Commenting upon the city tournament which closed Thursday night, Fenske showed surprise at the large number of entries. He thought the scores were good and declared the meet should go a long way toward making the meet here next year a success.

Fenske expects the Janesville meet to be a record breaker.

One of the big propositions before the state bowling association is the fact that the national bowling tournament will be held in Chicago at the same time the Wisconsin meet is under way. This will precipitate a battle over dates when the state board meets at the Green city Sunday and perhaps additional inducements be given the Badger teams.

William F. Fenske, secretary of the Wisconsin State Bowling association, was in Janesville Thursday conferring with Dr. S. P. Richards, secretary of the Janesville Bowling association and Janesville member of the state executive committee.

“COMMAND OF SEA”
IS TAKEN LIGHTLY

Hughes Not Disturbed by British Admiralty's Pet Phrase.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—Secretary Hughes has been disturbed over the phrase “command of the seas” as used by the first lord of the British admiralty in the latter’s plea to parliament for a $5,000,000 appropriation to fortify the British naval base at Singapore.

Mr. Hughes is inclined to regard the observation made in the British parliament a day or two ago as a rhetorical expression. Just what is meant by “command of the seas” might be as much subject to controversy as its famous opposite “freedom of the seas,” but the essential point which the American government has in mind is that the ratio of naval strength between the United States and Great Britain was defined in the Washington treaty of a year ago in which the two countries were placed on an equality of 5-5-3, with Japan represented in the third figure in the ratio.

The United States and Great Britain were to be equal in naval forces—that was clear enough—but it will always be a matter of controversy among naval men as to whether the British or American navy is superior, simply because one navy will boast of a better training and experience and another will boast of a better record of gun fire. It was to be expected that the British naval men would argue constantly for greater appropriations so as to maintain a superiority over all other navies, even though in ships and materials the two navies would be closely limited. The recent discussion of the elevation of guns is a pertinent case of naval rivalry which both countries will have to watch, but it is evident from the tone of official comments that rhetorical expressions or boasts about “command of the seas” will not be taken seriously.

No Correspondence Follows

It was pointed out, for instance, that when American speakers in the congressional debates or speeches outside of any subject pertaining to a foreign country, the dispatches are rarely if ever the subject of diplomatic correspondence, so consequently no official notice will be taken of the speech of the first lord of the British admiralty who must impress on his audience as he can in order to get appropriations, and who may appeal to British naval pride or anything else to get his emphasis in order to gain his point.

The development of the British naval base at Singapore was talked about informally during the Washington conference and has a more direct relationship to the protection of British interests in India that it does to anything which America might have occasion to be jealous of.

There is no disposition here to be jealous over the natural expansion of British fortifications in the vicinity of her possessions, as the split of the arms conference was to prevent the growth of armaments for offense and to set up ratios of strength which would adequately protect and defend existing territories.

No Exchange of Notes

The upshot of the incident probably will be no exchange of notes between the two governments, but unquestionably Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, who is a good reporter of things going on in America, will write a long letter describing the effect on American opinion of the “command of the seas” speech of the first lord of the admiralty, and the phrase will take its place along with many others in speeches that have been made and that will be made.

Never been repeated in the interest of good feeling between the two peoples.

BACK TOBACCO

POOL OR CLOSE UP ITS BUSINESS

Instructions were given to strip the crop, taking out the farm fillers, selling for six cents. Growers naturally expected that the good end would be graded as binders. In many instances the good end went into the stemming class and the grower would have been money ahead by stripping straight and selling the entire crop for stemming at 10 and 11 cents, the pool price.

C. M. Feland, Footville, brought this point out and was backed by other growers present.

Must Cover Grades

“We know the pool raised the price, but many of our growers were penalized for separating their fillers and good end. That will have to be changed if the pool is going to be favored. We know why these buyers are around and it is not hurting the pool for the farmer does not forget the past markets.”

“But we do think the pool made an error on this point and it will have to be corrected.”

John Holton, warehouse manager, agreed that the late season, the haste to grade the tobacco and deliver crops to buyers, delayed proper handling of the low grades.

“That difficulty will be taken care of in another season. We were disappointed in the average quality of the crops delivered which were reported as binders. The growers would lose more money having the pool take the low grade binder and packing them, for there was no sale for the low grades, and there was a demand for stemming stock,” declared Holton, an experienced and skilled tobacco man.

“The success of the pool depends on standard grades and that we sell the crop as reported.” When the buyer comes around tempting you and telling your crops were not graded right just call his attention to a year ago.

The policy expected to be followed next season is that growers be given more accurate and definite instructions on the manner to strip their crops.

Use Better Seed

Growers were urged to change to the pure Spanish type of seed to improve the quality of their crops.

“The pool can improve the marketing system and will in time. You can improve your crops for there is no trouble in selling good tobacco; it is the poor crops that are hard to move and bring the prices down to the stemming scale,” warned Selmer Neprud.

Jens Lein, Edgerton grower, a director inside one of the best speeches of the evening when he declared that the pool “must stand back of its grades.”

“We must show values. No one has a better crop. Give him credit. My neighbor sells cows for $100 a head and I am lucky to get $75 but he has a real outfit. Certainly we must show the buyers real value for we cannot force them to buy. Prices must be arranged to run this state as a binder state and not a stemming state to produce the future market. The pool must raise better tobacco.”

It was stated that since January the pool had 21,000,000 pounds of tobacco worth $3,100,000 and had started packing the unsold crops.

Weight Up Tobacco

“This business was trapped without borrowing a dollar. We think the pool did well. True there has been errors but you growers have started a marketing machine and agency that is too valuable to throw away because a few weeks to underpin an organization that gives the producer something to say about what they shall be paid and not have to take the buyer’s price,” said Attorney Eile.

Charles Schumacher, Janesville, a director, presided during the meeting. Jens Davidson, president, opened the talks by telling of the business of the pool.

It was declared that the expenses for pool administration and operation would be less than the contract limit—a cent a pound.

Also growers are to be employed at the Janesville warehouse to pack the unsold crops. Agents are being sent out to weigh up the crops on the farm and the pool will make an advance on this tobacco. The speed with which the tobacco is weighed up depends greatly on the return of the grading crews from Stoughton. Nearly all the stemming crops have been disposed of in Rock county and 10 days’ time will see the bulk of the unsold tobacco weighed up, according to local pool officials.

A big crowd and interesting meeting is expected in Edgerton Friday evening.

NEAR RIOT IN COMMITTEE WHEN TAX BILL IS UP

was based upon what three members of the committee told him and did not recede from his position. Loud shouting and pounding on the table were heard by persons outside as some of the members engaged in their verbal combat.

Personalities Only

Throughout the whole session the conversation revolved around personalities only and did not include a dozen of the merits of the bill, which will come in for discussion at 3 o’clock Friday afternoon.

Unprecedented maneuvers are looked for by members in an effort to get favorable action on the bill both in committee and on the floor.

Senator Huber shed tears while forensically defending his honor in attempting to refute the charge that the first report had been railroaded when opposing members were absent.

When the senate voted, 17 to 15, in favor of Kuehnik’s motion to turn the bill to the finance committee, considerable light was thrown on the final roll call, although there will be changes on both sides.

Fourteen senators pledged to support his bill, but he will need three more to pass it. Unless there are surprises, he will not be able to marshal the required number.

Three socialist senators may hold the balance of power, and speculation has become keen as to whether the governor will accept enough amendments to win the socialists to his side.

The governor already has made one concession, but will not press his demand for a one man tax commission, and he may be willing to accept another advocated by socialists, which is to eliminate the payment of income taxes in three installments.

But there are more important differences between Gov. Dilling and the socialist group, perhaps the biggest one being that the Milwaukeeans are opposed to slashing Milwaukee’s share of income taxes by hundreds of thousands of dollars, as would be the case under the governor’s plan.

ONE CASE DROPPED, SHE ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Bickle, Defeated in Non-Support Case, Signs New Complaint.

A non-support charge having been dismissed only last Saturday, when home troubles were aired, Reuben Bickle, car inspector for the St. Paul railroad, is again in the courts, this time in a divorce action started in the Rock county circuit court by his wife, Charlotte, whom he married at Rockford April 7, 1922.

Mrs. Bickle charged in her complaint that he has disregarded his marriage vows, and since Jan. 1 has used only profane and obscene language when speaking to her, and that in February he cut off credit to her in grocery and other stores, and left on April 28, stating that he would no longer pay the rent or furnish her with food or a home. She alleges that she has "been a good and faithful wife." An absolute divorce and alimony is asked.

The non-support action was heard last week in the Rock county municipal court, and Bickle on the stand testified that one time his wife was so drunk that she couldn't get a meal, and that her own child had said that if it wasn't for him she wouldn't get much to eat.

Herrington, Lima, Center farmer, whose treatment of her since the day after their wedding has been cruel and inhuman, she testified.

They were married at Milwaukee Nov. 3, 1914, and lived at Lima until for "her safety and her children" she left and went to live with her mother at Madison Jan. 13, 1920.

Placed Child's Nose
Most of the trouble arose over his "itchiness" and treatment of the children, she testified. One time Her-children and shut off its breath when it cried. A day after the wedding she spent $2 and he didn't speak to

City Wants List of All Sewers Needed in 1923

The committee on public works of the city council has under consideration several pieces of sewer and water main extensions, but finds that there are hardly enough such to warrant taking bids for them. Inasmuch as the petitions for such work are so numerous, the committee requests that anyone who has in mind such work for the coming season, on any street where such short extensions of new sewer or water main are desired, secure petition blanks from the city engineer's office and present petitions for such work to the council immediately.

Sewer contractors with the necessary equipment to handle large jobs, will not care to ship a trenching machine into the city for a small sized contract, and difficulty will be experienced in obtaining low bids when the city asks for them.

The legal proceedings preliminary to such work cover a period of about 30 days and once under way cannot be held up to include additional work that all such contemplated work be petitioned for within the next 10 days.

Sewer Project About Completed

The Holsowa Construction company has completed the laying of its pipe for the mile stretch of the Eastern avenue outlet sewer, a $100,000 project, and is now laying 83-foot stubs on McKay boulevard. A connector must also be made with the Chevrolet sewer and other finishing touches must be put on, requiring at least a week more for completion.

brought before Judge H. L. Maxwell case was held open.

TRUCK ASSEMBLING IN PROGRESS HERE

Chevrolet Turning Out Average of Five A Day—300 in May.

Assembling of trucks has been added to the routine of the Chevrolet plant in Janesville, and five a day are being put out at the present time by a small force working apart from the rest of the factory.

The chassis for the trucks are assembled and in most instances shipped without a body, most buyers preferring to buy special bodies. One simple type of body is placed on some of the trucks at the local plant.

Production of trucks at the local plant here in May will be about 300, the actual schedule calling for 377, and 200 in June. The decrease in June is because the demand for trucks is in the early months of the year, it is explained.

In all of the Chevrolet plants 1,400 trucks were put out in April, and 2,000 are called for in May. It was reported. All trucks are one ton.

Caloric Factory Has Material for 5,000 Phonographs

With material on hand for 5,000 phonographs, the Janesville Caloric corporation is busy. Under the supervision of T. J. Hickey a high class of phonographs with radio equipment is being turned out. The company is short about 25 men and finds it hard to get the high grade of workmen required in order to finish the machines.

With phonographs added to the products turned out in Janesville the range of manufacture has again increased, and the Caloric company intends to add still more to the facilities of the plant.

Walter Magill, general manager, who has been ill several weeks with the flu, is again able to be about.

Resume Work on Saxes' Theater

With plumbing changes which interfered with construction progress having been adjusted, work on the Saxe Bros. theater adjoining the Grand hotel is being continued by the T. S. Willis force and laying of brick will start next Tuesday. Order for steel has been made and is expected here within three weeks.

Mr. Willis said, Thursday, that the theater will be completed by Sept.
15 and probably will be opened Oct. 1.

Considerable change has been made in the plans, which make the building entirely fireproof, as required by the state industrial commission where a theater of the size contemplated here is built. There will be 1,200 seats, Mr. Willis said.

A shadow box stage will be erected so that motion pictures may be seen comfortably by those sitting in front seats.

Klein Case to Be Argued, Saturday

Attorney F. C. Burnee, and City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham, will go to Madison Saturday to argue the case of Henry C. Klein vs. the City of Janesville before the state supreme court. The hearing is at 9 a. m. Written briefs have already been filed and oral arguments will be made, Saturday. A decision in the case is not expected for several weeks.

The question involved is whether the city shall pay Klein, former chief of the fire department, $150 or $300 a year pension. The city contends that he is entitled to only $150.

Judge George Grimm upheld the contention of City Attorney Cunningham, and his decision was appealed to the state supreme court.

FIRE DAMAGES CAR OF WILLIS, BUILDER

The new coupe of T. S. Willis, local contractor, was partially destroyed by fire near Ixonia Wednesday. He was on his way from Milwaukee to Janesville when the machine caught fire.
It was insured. Mr. Willis lost another car by fire last November when part of Strimling's garage was destroyed.

COMPLAIN AGAINST PONY RUNNING WILD

Residents of Jefferson avenue and vicinity are raising complaints against a pony which has been allowed to run loose in that district this week. The animal has run over several gardens, destroying portions of growing vegetables and doing other damage.

AWAIT CABLE FOR ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS

All ornamental lighting standards will be in place by the end of the week, with the work on the 65-light addition to the Janesville ornamental system progressing fast. The Janesville Electric company awaits cable to connect the lamps up with that run underground, which will take about two weeks' work. Master William R. Schmidley contemplates turning on the lights within three weeks.

Committees Are Named for Junior Prom Here May 11

Alumni of the Janesville high school and a number of friends are receiving invitations to the annual junior class prom, to be held at the high school Friday, May 11. While first plans were drafted concerning admission, they have been made slightly more lenient. What is now required is that one person of the couple attending is either a member of the senior high school or a graduate of the school. If or she may invite a friend who is not.

Plans for the most elaborate decorations the gymnasium has ever seen, and to compare more favorably with those of any past prom, are being made by Joe Koyser's Rockford orchestra will play, so that all in all the prom will be the social event of the season.

Following are the committees, all headed by Miss Ruth Weisinger and Miss Jennie Marker of the faculty, advisors of the A and B classes:

Invitations—Milo Meyer, chairman; Viola Carpenter, Edna Connors, Florence Connell, Esther Currier and Don Flaherty.
Program—Ruth Fleisher, chairman; Marjorie Venable, Virginia Eiler, John Matheson, Conrad Krelp, Erwin

Advertising—Sven Sorenson, chairman; James Franklin, Williamina chairman; Lucille Harshorn, Florence Boynton, Charlotte Clark, Alice ulty, chairman; Doretta Harvey, Be-
